

Some celebrities and famous people are devoted followers of particular fashion designers and count on them for awards ceremonies or festivals. Fashion designers compete to make their creations more elegant and beautiful than any other designer. Some of the best-known fashion brands in the fashion world are Chanel, Paco Rabanne, Balenciaga, Torretta, Valentino, Christian Dior, Yves-Saint Laurent. Most of these fashion designers are European and have a reputation as brilliant designers of fashion.

Fashion designers may take several months and even years, creating their dream designs. The cost of the clothing can be expensive, but celebrities will pay thousands of dollars for a dress to wear to a festival (some of those dresses have diamonds embroidered on them).

Some fashion designer's fame is international. Some even display their most spectacular creations in museums and exhibition halls. Remember that some are considered artists.

Many fashion designers work hand in hand with stylists to combine their fashions with a style that is part of their brand. So, the fashion designer creates the outfit, and the stylist matches handbags, shoes, jewelry, and other accessories to it.

Even though I do not have the talent to create fashion, I still like to read fashion magazines and watch them model on TV.

What about you? Do you like the world of fashion?
