Protecting the Environment

Our planet is unique and spectacular. However, the activities of human beings are damaging the environment. Besides using the natural resources of the Earth, often in excess, humans cause harm to the environment in other ways, such as polluting the water and air, littering and cutting down forests.

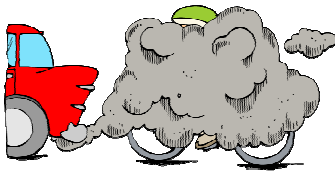

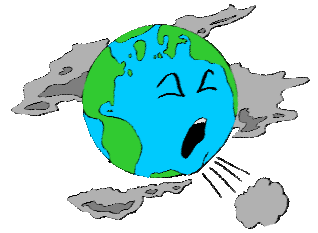

Therefore, it is necessary that we all take care of the planet. As individuals, we can help with small daily actions such as recycling, saving water and energy and not littering.

1. What damage do we cause to the environment? Match the columns.

• Littering

• Polluting the air

• Cutting down trees

2. Who is taking care of the planet? Mark the correct drawings. Draw a picture of one thing more we can do to protect the environment.
