

LOLA AND THANKSGIVING

Every November, families get ready to celebrate Thanksgiving, and Lola's family was going to prepare just like everyone else.

They quickly organize themselves into equitable teams to clean and tidy up the house, buy the ingredients needed for dinner, put up the decorations, write the guest cards, and do a myriad of other things. It is important to mention that each and every one of the members of Lola's family works hard together to carry out their tasks.

Lola especially likes to decorate the house, especially with the drawings and clay figures she makes in her art classes. Most of Lola's drawings are painted with crayons and markers, but she recently discovered watercolor painting and was fascinated by it. In addition, she takes sculpture classes, where she makes clay figures every Thursday. This year, she sculpted a beautiful ceramic turkey painted in bright colors. She intends to put it on the main table, on a round tablecloth that her grandmother sewed, surrounded by pumpkins of different sizes and shapes.

She also likes to help prepare the food with her parents, especially doing easy tasks such as peeling potatoes, cutting vegetables, or stirring different sauces, especially blueberry sauce. When her parents aren't watching, she enjoys dipping her finger in this sauce and sucking it. Super sweet!

After all that work, it's time to get pretty and stylish. Lola has decided to put on her new velvet dress, which is as soft as her cat's fur. It's a deep green color and goes with a pair of red shoes. Her hair has been styled in a big bun, topped by a bow in the same shades as the dress. She is very proud of her hairstyle because she has done it on her own, without the help of an adult.
