

Skates for Jeremy

January is a great month for ice skating outside in places where the weather gets really cold. Jeremy lives in Minnesota, and the temperature drops so low during the winter sometimes that the lakes freeze. You can safely walk across the lake and not fall in the water. Many of Jeremy's friends love to skate on the ice when it gets that solid, but Jeremy does not know how to skate. He's a little embarrassed to say so, but he's never really tried because he's afraid of falling. This winter, Jeremy's best friend Eddie has promised to teach him how to skate. Eddie's family even bought Jeremy brand new ice skates for a birthday present. They are sleek and handsome skates with shiny blades, and Jeremy is excited to give them a try. He is determined that with Eddie's help, this is the season he will finally overcome his fear and learn to ice skate. Tomorrow is supposed to be a cold but sunny and beautiful day...perfect for ice skating. Jeremy and Eddie will head to the frozen lake near their little town. Eddie has assured his nervous friend that everything will be alright, and he'll soon be skating like a pro.
