Globo, the Balloon

Always tied to a rope, Globo dreamed of being free and being able to fly like a bird to see from the sky, the earth, and its landscapes.

Every time there was wind, Globo took the opportunity to lean from one side to the other, trying to break the rope that was tied to him.

The wind blew strong, very strong, and Globo shook vigorously. Suddenly, the rope broke.

Globo was free; he was smiling happily. Now, he could fly!

We can often see him in the sky, tucked into the clouds, flailing happily because he accomplished what he longed for so much.
