The Postman / Mailman

The mailman is the person in charge of delivering letters and packages which are sent by mail.

First mail dropped in mailboxes is collected and sorted. Then the mailman delivers them to the houses, offices and other places indicated on the envelopes and packages.

Mailmen use many types of transportation to deliver the mail – bicycles, motorcycles or special cars and jeeps. They also walk from home to home. Sometimes, they must deliver very important letters and documents. It is important that they reach the right address.

Mailmen wear a uniform and carry satchels or mailbags on their delivery rounds.
