

Name _____

Date _____

Who wrote Don Quixote, Man of La Mancha?

Miguel de Cervantes is one of the best known Spanish writers. His most famous book is Don Quixote, Man of La Mancha.

Miguel de Cervantes was born in Spain. His father was deaf and worked as a surgeon. As a youth, Miguel accompanied his father to work and helped him. When he grew up, Miguel de Cervantes became a soldier. He participated in the Battle of Lepanto.

Miguel de Cervantes later wrote novels, poems, and plays. He is sometimes called "Prince of Wits."

ANSWER THE QUESTIONS.

1. Miguel de Cervantes' father was _____.
- a. blind
 - b. a surgeon
 - c. a soldier
 - d. unable to speak

2. In which battle did Miguel de Cervantes fight?
- a. The Battle of Lepanto
 - b. The Battle of Cartagena of India
 - c. The Battle of Stalingrad
 - d. The Battle of Normandy

3. Miguel de Cervantes wrote _____.
- a. articles
 - b. songs
 - c. novels
 - d. comics

4. Miguel de Cervantes is called the _____.
- a. King of Comedy
 - b. King of Imagination
 - c. Father of Literature
 - d. Prince of Wits

