Psychiatrist

Psychiatrists are doctors who specialize in caring for and treating people with mental health or behavior problems. They also give treatments to help prevent psychological or mental problems.

Psychiatrists treat patients in a variety of ways: through medications, with psychological support and with therapies to help patients to overcome their problems.

Mental health problems can affect all types of people at any age: children, young people or adults.

Psychiatrists work in many places, for example in hospitals, clinics or mental health centers.
