

NATIVES

They are the native inhabitants of a country, specifically, on Thanksgiving Day. It refers to the people who inhabited the lands of North America when the settlers arrived from England.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

CRANBERRIES

They are small, reddish berries that grow on evergreen shrubs. On Thanksgiving, it is prepared as a sauce that serves as an accompaniment to roast turkey.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

GIVE THANKS

It is feeling or showing gratitude. Give thanks for something. On Thanksgiving Day, the settlers thanked the indigenous people for all the help they gave them when they first arrived in America.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

AUTUMN

Season of the year between summer and winter. For certain fruits and vegetables, such as apples, walnuts, potatoes, and squash, it is harvest time.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas