

PARADE

A group of people who march in line on a specific route to celebrate an event. On Thanksgiving, it is common to participate or watch the parade that takes place in New York City.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

FAMILY

It is a group of related people, such as parents, children, grandparents, grandchildren, nieces, or nephews who meet on Thanksgiving to share a special day.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

PUMPKIN PIE

It is a traditional Thanksgiving dessert made with eggs, sugar, pumpkin, and spices, such as cinnamon and ginger. It is sweet and delicious.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas

CORN

It is a fruit shaped like a cob that was very important for pilgrims. There were many varieties: white, blue, yellow, and red.

When it was ground, it could be made into flour and then baked as bread. The Pilgrims did not know corn before they met the Indians. They gave them corn seeds and taught them how to grow it.

© Dual Schools: The Learning Patio - Dos Idiomas