After taking a shower, I plopped on the couch and found a program about cowboys in a rodeo. I knew they rounded up cows. Now, I see them taking down bulls that pounded their hooves, scowled at the riders, and ran around in a large circle. They sometimes rode powerful bulls that snorted loudly and tried to bounce the rider to the ground. The crowd gasped when the rider fell off the brown bull. They didn't make a sound until a clown came out, growled at the bull, and ran around the arena to distract the bull until the rider was safe. Everyone cheered and shouted excitedly as the rider proudly walked away. Wow!
