My class took a field trip today to a farm close to the neighborhood. The teacher told us to break up into groups of eight. She said to stay with our guides, obey the rules, and pay attention to what our guide has to say. Our guide showed us how they make bales of hay. He had gray reindeer there also. The reindeer were eating the hay laying on the ground. We got to take a hayride and play in a playground that was along the way. When it was time to leave, the teacher checked that all eighteen of us were here. We told the farmer that we had a great day. He hoped that we may be able to come back in the winter and ride in the sleigh. Yay!!
